THE DAILY WORKER AND HUSSAKI

CPYRIGHT

By EUGENE DENNIS

Big changes are taking place in the world, and hence in the minds of all thinking people. Therefore it is not surprising that there have been changes in the Daily Worker's approach to many problems.

It is good that the Daily displays considerable initiative, reacts quickly to events and endeavors to make a break with the dogmatism of the past. Yet there is a growing concern among many readers and friends of the Daily Worker regarding its editorial position on certain vital questions, especially on the recent events in Hungary. What are some of the reasons for this deep apprehension which, as I indicated in a letter published in these pages on Nov. 12, I too share?

The situation in Hungary is not only regrettable, it is also extremely complex. No matter how one evaluates the turn of events in Hungary after Nov. 4, I believe all Marxists would agree that if Hungary went fascist world peace of Horthy's old Arrow Cross Division and of 60,000 diverse other fascist agents and bands which infiltrated Hungary via the Austrian border. Likewise they belittled the significance of Cardinal Mindszenty's radio speech of Nov. 3 in which he called for a return "to a system of private property" and the restoration to the Church of its former possessions, privileges and political influence—and this at the moment when Radio Free Europe urged, and Tildy and Nagy proposed to include the Cardinal in a new government coalition!

Underestimating the significance of these developments, the Daily Worker failed to draw the obvious conclusion that the threat of a fascist putsch became sufficiently menacing to require, as a matter of grim necessity, the resolute action taken by the Soviet Union on Nov. 4.

Things reached such a pass that one editorial spokesman for the paper argued thus: since Stalin falsely characterized Tito as a State Department, and the editorial policy of the New York Times.

It is good that the Daily Worker editorial raise the need for a new summit meeting to relax the new international tensions and end the cold war. But is not this position undermined when the paper repeatedly questions whether the

vo More in Senate Eight Filibuster

Republican Senator Thomas H. Kuch of California and Democratic Senator-elect Joseph S. Clark of Pennsylvania are the latest to enter the Senate filibuster group. Kuch said he would vote in January junk the archaic tradition which enables a few to tie the Senate up for days and secretly filibuster.

Republican Senators Irving M. Alfman of New York and Clifford P. E. King of New Jersey had previously announced support of the six Democratic Senators working a change in Rule 22.

The Democrats sponsoring the bill are Senators Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, Wayne Morse of Oregon, Paul Douglas of Illinois, Richard L. Neuberger of Oregon, Pat McNamara of Michigan and James E. Murray of Montana.

They would act on the opening of Congress Jan. 3, to curb filibusters. Among the six are Michigan's Sen. Pat McNamara. Oliver said that the 56 organizations that go to make up the Civil Rights Conference on Civil Rights will meet in Washington to act before Jan. 3.
